In this issue Tri-Rehab is sharing helpful tips for you or a loved one to find the right rehabilitation center for your needs. We hope you find this information helpful. And of course, we hope you choose Tri-Rehab as your rehab provider!

Choosing a Rehab Center

In choosing a rehab center, patients have several things to consider in making sure the clinic is the best option to serve their needs.

In Michigan, a physician's prescription for physical, occupational or athletic trainer rehabilitation is required. This does not mean you have to go where your physician recommends. You have a choice to go where you know you will get the best care for your condition. Some items to consider:

1. Does the center take your insurance? When calling to schedule an appointment ask the receptionist if your insurance is accepted at the clinic as "In Network" coverage. You can also contact your insurance provider to see if the clinic is an approved provider. Go to www.trirehab.com to see our list of accepted insurance plans.
2. Are the professionals at the clinic knowledgeable in treating your condition? Do your research. Ask to speak with the clinic's professional staff about your condition, recovery and rehabilitation program. Ask to see a bio of the professional staff and to see a picture of the clinic noting your access to rehabilitation equipment. Tri-Rehab's web site is an example. Go to www.trirehab.com to read our professional staff's bios and see pictures of our facilities.
3. In recent patient surveys top concerns for patients seeking rehabilitation are cleanliness of the center and a comfortable environment. Make sure you are comfortable with the center's cleanliness and organization. Does the professional staff have the ability to make you feel welcome in their clinic? As an example, does the professional staff speak your language, is the personnel friendly and welcoming and does the staff make you want to come to your appointment.

These are just three items to consider when seeking the best rehab center for your specific needs. Please contact either one of Tri-Rehab's locations or visit us at www.trirehab.com for more information.
